

PROMISE LINE VERY SHORTLY

Messrs. Clough and McAllister Tell Madison People They Will Build Soon.

INTERESTING NEWS AS TO ROAD

Survey Is Nearly Complete, And The Route Will Probably Be Decided Very Soon By The Engineers.

PROMISED NEW LINE PROJECT. [SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Madison, Wis., Aug. 28.—H. H. Clough and David McAllister, both of Chicago, representing the syndicate which is projecting an interurban electric railroad from Chicago to Madison, were in the city today looking over the field. They assured business men here that the line would be built from Janesville to Madison by way of Stoughton just as soon as the materials and labor could be secured.

DAVIDSON'S BOATS ARE NOT INSURED. Owner of Local Sugar Factory Claims to Have Saved $470,000 in Twenty-five Years.

Capt. James Davidson, the Bay City vessel owner and owner of the Rock County Sugar company, does not believe in extensive insurance on boats, and declares he has not had any of his boats insured for twenty-five years. The captain says: "Insurance rates on wooden vessels would not be so high if some owners of such boats took good care of them instead of letting them run ashore and be wrecked or burned up. A good wooden boat is a much better risk than a steel ship, but I do not blame the underwriters for making the rates so high, taking into consideration what has happened to many crafts that were heavily insured. We have not carried a dollar's worth of insurance, excepting our own fund, in twenty-five years, and in that time we have saved just $470,000. Our only loss in a quarter of a century was the barge 'Proctor' last fall." Asked if he would ever build any more wooden ships, Capt. Davidson replied: "No; timber is too scarce and, besides, everybody wants steel boats."

WHY MAIL MATTER SOMETIMES FAILS

Leather and Metal Post Cards Need Two Cents When Written Upon—Other Regulations. There are some things relating to mail matter which many people do not seem to understand. Some people in mailing letters clip stamps from government envelopes and paste them on another and expect the letter to be transmitted through the mails. This is impossible, as the government does not recognize such stamps except on the envelopes where they are printed. Then again some people write on the face of the postal card more than the address necessary and mail it without additional postage. This is a violation of the postal law in that it changes the class of the card and makes two cents postage necessary if the card is to be delivered. All leather or metal post cards with any writing thereon except the address, comes under the two-cent rate and cannot be forwarded unless such amount of postage is paid. There are now a large number of these cards held at the general office for postage, so if anxious friends have been waiting answers to cards sent they should call at the office and see if they have violated the rule and changed the class of their missive. In their original state such post cards go as merchandise, but when written upon they become first class mail and must have letter postage. A one-cent stamp will not carry a paper or magazine which weighs more than four ounces yet many of them are mailed with one-cent stamp affixed. The foregoing are some of the reasons why letters and papers are not forwarded by the postoffice throughout the country and cause thousands of missives to be sent to the dead-letter office. There is a great amount of work necessary to handle the mails in a city the size of Janesville and the carelessness with which some people place postage on letters and papers makes it necessary for the clerks to devote some time to noticing the postage as well as reading the addresses. This work has to be handled rapidly and occasionally letters slip through without sufficient postage and the receiver has to pay when the letter is delivered.

POLITICAL DOPE FROM FOUR DIFFERENT STATES

Conventions In Oklahoma, Fusion In Pennsy, Factionalism In Delaware, Primaries In South Carolina.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Columbus, S. C., Aug. 28.—Shall the South Carolina Dispensary remain a state institution or be abolished root and branch? is the dominating issue in the state campaign which culminates in today's primary election. The campaign has been one of the liveliest this state has seen in recent years. Added spice has been given to the fight by Senator Tillman's activity in behalf of the dispensary and against certain newspapers. Eight candidates for governor, representing every phase of the liquor question, have been making a county to county canvass, following the itinerary fixed by the state executive committee, which Tillman declined to join because, he said, he would not speak if his time was limited. He therefore mapped out a tour for himself, and has been speaking every weekday for six weeks. He has been bitter in his attacks on the State of this city and its editor, W. E. Gonzales. The newspaper has for several years conducted a campaign for compulsory education, and last winter one caused had so many friends that a compulsory education bill failed of passage in the legislature by only three votes. There are eight candidates for governor: Senator Richard I. Manning of Sumter, Col. John T. Sloan and John I. McMahon of Columbia, Joel E. Brunson of Sumter, Martin E. Ansel of Greenville, W. A. Edwards of Saluda county, and Senator Cole L. Blease of Newberry. There are several candidates for nearly every other place on the state ticket to be filled. Congressmen Legare, Ellerbe and Lever have no opposition to re-election. Messrs. Johnson, Finley, Patterson and Aikens have opposition. Delaware. Far From Harmony. Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 28.—Over in Delaware the political pot is boiling again today. J. Edward Addicks, gas man and senatorial aspirant, is making the fight of his life to prove that he is ineligible to membership in the "Down and Out Club," where the voters of the Blue Hen State evidently believe he belongs. The remnant of Edicks' followers are holding a state convention today, the announced purpose being to nominate a ticket headed by Addicks for congress. Defeated in his senatorial hopes, the Union Republican Leader is planning to go to Washington as a representative in the lower branch of congress. In holding a separate convention Addicks is going against the advice of many of his political friends, who are of the opinion that he might have gained more by joining with the regular republicans in the so-called harmony convention which the latter have called for next week. Fusion Campaign in Pennsylvania. Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 28.—Great preparations have been completed for the mass meeting tonight, to mark the opening of the fusion campaign in Pennsylvania. All the candidates on the fusion ticket put up by the Lincoln and democratic parties are expected to be present, including Lewis Emery, Jr., "Farmer" Creasy, Jeremiah S. Black and John J. Green. Mayor Guthrie, Pittsburgh's reform mayor, is to participate in the demonstration. The campaign thus begun by the fusion candidates will be followed by a stump speaking tour of the state which will continue until election day in November. Oklahoma Congressional Fight. Guthrie, Okla., Aug. 28.—Republicans of Oklahoma today are holding their conventions for the nomination of representatives in congress. The campaign, being the first of its kind, is naturally attracting the liveliest attention throughout the territory. Most interest centers in the First district convention in session here and the Second district convention at Gentry. Bird S. McGuire is after the nomination in the First district, while former Governor Ferguson aspires to represent the Second district.

ADVANCE GUARD OF BRYAN WELCOMERS HAS ARRIVED

Folk Will Call Meeting, Johnson Will Preside And August Thomas Speak--Nebraskan Will Be Heard. [SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] New York, Aug. 28.—The advance guard of the democratic multitude that is to welcome William J. Bryan on his arrival home from his world tour has come to town. The main army of delegates will pour into the city tonight and tomorrow morning. Indications are not lacking that the crowd of visitors will far surpass the early expectations. Advances received at the headquarters of the reception committee show that states south of the Ohio and west of the Mississippi are sending delegations of several hundred each. Those commonwealths will have an even larger numerical representation. The figures given out by the committee take no account of the hundreds of visitors who are expected to come in an unofficial capacity. The low rates offered by the railroads are expected to result in one of the largest crowds New York has seen in some years. Almost every hotel in the city reports more applications for rooms for this week than can be granted. Many of the hotels are arranging with boarding-houses and furnished-room owners to send the expected overflow to these places. Unfortunately, New York is always crowded with visitors at this time of the year, so that it requires but a slight addition to the influx of strangers to fill the hotels to overflowing. But it remains true that in hotels there is unusual room for one more. It was found today that several scores of persons can secure board and lodgings at nearly any hotel in New York at regular prices. After tonight the managers will make no promises, but they say they will probably be able to take in a limited number from night to night all through the week also at regular rates. So far as can be ascertained not a single reputable hotel in town has advanced its rates in anticipation of the big crowd. It developed today that hotels and many business houses will decorate their places for the occasion. This fact may be taken as without personal or political significance. It is customary for the business district to blossom out in the national colors on the occasion of any large celebration. On the present occasion it may be regarded not so much as a personal tribute to Mr. Bryan as to the throng of visitors who will be here from all parts of the country. Fifth avenue and Broadway do not monopolize the decorations. In every part of town, on the far East and West sides, where neither Mr. Bryan nor any of the persons who will come from out of town to welcome him will be likely to go, shops and houses are being decked out in his honor. The saloons lead in the assurances that Bryan is welcome. At the Hotel Victoria today the plan and scope committee appointed by the Commercial Travelers' Anti-Trust League were busy attending to

TERRORISTS SLAIN IN LODGING HOUSE

Police and Troops Surrounded Building and Riddled It with Rifle Shots. [BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Riga, Aug. 28.—The police and troops today surrounded a lodging house on Stokova street, where bombs had been discovered. The revolutionists inside fired with rifles from the windows on the attacking party and also threw a bomb, whereupon the troops riddled the house with bullets, killing or wounding all the inmates. Two men and one woman were killed. At another place in the suburbs a Lithuanian student was killed and several wounded while resisting arrest.

KICKERS' KOLUM.

Editor Kickers' Kolum: Referring
again to the subject of sweeping sidewalk and washing windows at unseemly hours of the morning, I beg to suggest that the easiest way out of this trouble would be for the shopkeepers to jointly hire a man or two to do this work and have them begin early enough to get through before six a. m. The cost to each individual would be but a trifle, and the abatement of this dangerous and unnecessary nuisance would be worth many times the cost. If the "boss" is too niggardly to stand this small expense, then he should come down to the store and do the sweeping himself before six o'clock in the morning.
To demand such services of the clerks would be unreasonable. Janesville is big enough to cast off some of her village habits and follow the example of larger cities where the abuses of which I complain are tolerated. How can we hope to see "the great white plague" stamped out or any decided progress made in this direction if the people continue indifferent to the warnings of scientists, state boards of health, etc. If you think I am an alarmist, read the last special bulletin issued by the New York state board of health, on this subject. It seems to be the unanimous opinion of the leading medical men the world over, that pulmonary consumption is contagious only through inhaling the dried sputum of a tubercular patient. The seeds of death are being sown daily on the streets of Janesville and how do you know but that one of your reapers
in this harvest of death. "One diseased sheep may infect the whole flock," and it is from that view point
that we should regard consumption.
Put a stop to the filthy habit of spitting on the sidewalk and the criminal act of throwing this filth into the faces of defenseless pedestrians in the form of dust. Even if there were no disease germs to be feared, common decency demands a reform. Let the sweeping be done, and well done, at the proper time. I have no particular quarrel with the long handles of the window brushes, they never caught me yet, and I am prepared to hear your contributor "How A. Bonik" claim that these things add to the cleanliness of the passersby, and thus help to qualify him for the great American game of "getting there."

WORK OF FILLING UP THE RACEWAY ARCH COMPLETED

200 Loads of Sand Have Been Dumped Into Milwaukee St. Section of Old Water-course.
Under the direction of Street Commissioner James Bennett, 200 loads of sand taken from the River street excavations have been dumped into the old raceway arch under Milwaukee street and the bottom has been raised high enough so that festering pools of stagnant water will no longer collect there. The work is regarded as complete and the opening in the pavement opposite the Frank Baack clothing store has been closed up.

PAINTER AT WORK UP IN THE AIRSHIP ZONE

William Blow is the Steeplejack Who is Painting the Congregational Church Spire.
William Blow, a painter in the employ of E. J. Kent, is the man who is applying a new jacket to the Congregational church steeple. In order to get his ropes about the apex of the spire he climbed up inside to a small opening within twenty feet of it.
worked a difficult passage through this aperture, and made the balance of the ascent on iron pegs placed there years ago. After attaching the strong cables he rigged the tackle and scaffold and has since been wielding the brush in perfect security up among the airship routes. His son remains inside the steeple and furnishes the material as it is needed.

Thirteen and Eleven Year Old Girls Were on Way Home From School in a Buggy.
At Rock City, near Freeport, yesterday the thirteen year old daughter of Louis Pothas and the 11 year old daughter of John Tilkemeier were run down and killed by a C. M. & St. P. passenger train, and a third child was seriously injured and may not survive. The children were on their way home from school and were riding in a buggy.

That Circus.

The costumes worn by the twelve hundred characters in the beautiful spectacular productions of "The Field of the Cloth of Gold," one of the many wonderful features in Ringling Brothers' World's Greatest Shows, are unlike in correct designs from the most costly fabrics, silks, satins, velvets and gold and silver cloth of mail, which, with the gorgeous horse trappings, armor and accoutrements, cost a fortune alone. An attractive feature of the wonderful circus is a company of fifty clowns, who keep the audience in a continuous state of laughter by their odd conceits and grotesque actions. The Ernest Siers, now appearing in America for the first time with the World's Greatest Shows are the most renowned trick bicycle riders in the world. The most daring gymnastic feats are performed by them while wheeling on a high wire. Their delicate machines are made to spin, bowl and poise upon a suspended strand of wire with the graceful ease and thrilling risk of a stage act. It is a marvelous exhibition of difficult cycling.

MILTON CLAIMS THE INTERURBAN ROUTE

Resident of College Village Reported to Hold Promises of Both Clough and McAllister.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Milton, Aug. 28.—Messrs. MacAllister and Clough, of the Janesville and Madison Interurban road, called on Hon. P. M. Green recently. Both stated to him that the proposed line would run through this village when built. "Get off the track, when the gong rings."

Hon. J. C. Bartholf, who represented this district in the assembly in 1885-87, is a candidate this year from the eleventh Milwaukee district.
"Dope" Grassie in the Evening Wisconsin has the following item in regard to him:

"J. C. Bartholf, candidate for the nomination for the assembly in the eleventh district, has an effective picture postal card containing his portrait, a skeleton platform, a map of his district giving the precinct boundaries and a picture of the new state house with the inscription, 'A Block Road from the Eleventh Ward Wauwatosa to the Assembly Chamber in the Capitol at Madison.' Then there is printed:

"Dear Friend: I recently enjoyed hearing Hon. J. C. Bartholf of your ward deliver a speech in favor of true representative government. It had the right ring. Be sure to hear him the first chance you get. We need just such men as he in our state legislature. I hope you will do your utmost to insure his election. Sincerely yours,

"These are intended to be signed by the friends of the candidate and mailed to his prospective constituents in his ward. Clever idea. It had the right ring, however sounds as though it might mean, 'He belongs to the right ring.' There's a good deal in that."

result of a change in the date of "The

McCUE & BUSS, The Druggists

A TRIP THROUGH SUNNY
SOUTH.

Jas. W. Scott has just returned from a trip South, stopping at Cornish, Miss.; Chattanooga, Tenn.; Floris-
ville, Anniston; Selma and Mobile, Alabama. In passing through the various states a Northerner can easily see the advantages there offered.
The Southern R. R. and Mobile & Ohio R. R. and various other roads form a network of roads to the various markets. The large rivers form another source of conveying products from the fields and forests, to the markets, at the lowest possible rates.
The South is rapidly advancing in the "Fruit Industry." The "Alabama Peach"—the possibilities for the future development of this industry can only be realized by one who has seen the country and the thousands of trees
so laden with the beautiful sun-kissed fruit, as to make it seem impossible for the branches to keep from splitting under the weight of their luscious yield. Nature has seemingly combined every possible advantage for the success of fruit culture, in Alabama—
soil, climate, etc., being all that possibly could be desired. The crops mature earlier than in any other section and it is possible to place the Alabama fruit on the market at least 2 or 3 weeks ahead of the regular crops from less favored sections, and the day is not distant when the Alabama peach will be without equal on the market. Carloads of these peaches were marketed in Northern and Western cities for the first time in 1909 and brought unusually favorable comment from dealers and commission men on account of their large size, beautiful coloring and delicious flavor, and particularly as to the prime condition in which they reached the market, this being due to the firmness and freshness of the fruit from insects and bruises.

There are over 200,000 fruit trees growing at Fruitland, Alabama, at present. During the season of 1901
the shipments of peaches from this point amounted to 28 acres and only 18,000 or 20,000 trees, were in bearing. Lands in this section may be had in tracts to suit the purchaser on very easy terms, with every facility to shippers for placing their fruits or products on the markets. Nature has blessed the country with plenty of running brooks and an abundance of rain fall to grow the crops. Cotton, corn and fruit are now the principal crops. It needs the sturdy farmer of the North and the West to prosper, till the soil and nature will do the rest. The woods of the South are Pine, Hickory, Oak, Chestnut, Walnut, and white-woods, are being readily converted into the best of lumber. Stave mills, chair factories, box factories,
and other numerous enterprises convert all the short material to value.
Brick yards and potteries convert the clays to builders use, while at Corning, Miss., the finest pipe clay in the United States is found. The South also offers the dairyman the best returns for his labor as the climate is ideal for stock. All the nutritious grass and food are here found with abundant pure water. No long cold winters, or expensive quarters for stock, make this a paradise for the stockman and dairyman. Two or three crops can be grown if properly rotated and cared for with little expense. Sugar cane and sorghum do well, and Indian corn and broom corn are grown in large quantities.
The cotton industry is a sure and safe crop, and demonstrates beyond doubt the value of the soil as this product has been raised on the same land for years, as all rents are here figured on this valuable article. Grains of all kinds do well here.

Vegetables of all kinds can be grown ten months in the season, and the table well provided for at a minimum cost. Schools and churches of all kinds and denominations are found and every educational advantage shown. Many costly and elaborate edifices have been built. One worthy of mention, the "Academy of Visitation," a magnificent group of buildings, located at Mobile, Alabama, covering over 100 acres of land. The lands are splendidly cared for and every advantage for a young lady's education is here provided. Plenty of good labor can be had at reasonable prices. Soils are rich and a good subsoil of clay provides nourishment
and retains the moisture to crops.

The mule is the steady and faithful animal of labor here, and can be raised more cheaply and demands better prices than the horse. Climate is fine, the days are warm, with good cool and bracing air for night. The rainfall is abundant and well distributed during the year. No high winds or hail storms are experienced as in the Northern states, making this one of the choicest places for

Forty Years Ago.

Janesville Daily Gazette, Tuesday, Aug. 28, 1866.—Ship Renting in the Baptist Tabernacle.—There was a lively time in the Baptist Tabernacle yesterday, pending the sale of ships at auction. They were taken rapidly, and at good prices. We learn the rental will reach some six or eight hundred dollars more than last year. This is certainly a most gratifying pecuniary property.

Soldiers' Candidate for Clerk of the Board of Supervisors.—We understand the soldiers are speaking quite prominently of a candidate for clerk of the Board of Supervisors, in the person of Mr. Horace R. Hobart. The gentleman entered the service in the First Wisconsin Cavalry, and was wounded. On his return home he was commended with the Provost Marshal's office for some time, and is quite well known throughout the county.

Congressional Delegates.—The following delegates have been appointed to the Watertown Congressional Convention in this county:

Second Assembly District.—Earn A. Foot, E. Colman.
First District.—J. M. Burgess and H. Richardson.
These delegates are instructed to vote for the Hon. I. C. Sloan.

A loyal Union citizen of Fayetteville, Arkansas, writing to a friend, states the election in Arkansas has resulted in an overwhelming victory for the rebel party. Nearly all their candidates were men who had served in the rebel army. He writes that great excitement exists since the election. "The Rebels have become very blatant, and are already commencing to persecute men who voted the Union ticket. He says there is a fair prospect of having the old days of slavery and Southern rule provided. As a loyal Southerner, the writer condemns the policy of Andrew Johnson as a most outrageous and infamous treatment of a people who have fought and suffered to save the Union."

BRYAN'S WELCOME

New York wants to welcome Bryan. New York hotels are crowded to the suffocation mark. New York saloons are happy to announce that they are ready to furnish liquors to all who may desire them. Railroads are bringing crowds of enthusiasts and tourists, who took advantage of the cheap rates. The city is on tip-toe of expectancy. Meanwhile William Jennings Bryan is cruising up and down New York Bay waiting for the proper moment when he shall make his official landing. Meanwhile the campaign managers are utilizing the great advertising dodge they have created to the fullest extent possible. Bryan made a speech about a cross of gold and crucifixion that nominated him as the democratic standard-bearer in 1896. He lost out by a large majority. In 1900 he was again chosen to lead the advance guard of democracy and lost out again by a larger majority. In 1904 he missed nomination and a mistake took his place. Then he toured the world. Then he dined with Kings and nodded at Emperors. His press agents took advantage of every move and he lands tomorrow in New York the idol of democracy again. This strange hybrid with long ears and a short tail sees great glory in the reception it has planned and the world, the business world, look on and smile.

CHICAGO'S CRUSADE

Chicago is making a crusade all by itself for pure food. It has found jobs for former ward-healers and union politicians in the roles of food inspectors, and these men, aided by the newspapers, are making great strides towards making the food of the great city clean and healthy. They have even invaded barber-shops and barber schools; have found tons of spoiled fruit; have discovered refuse heaps where free lunches for saloons were manufactured; have held their noses and invaded shops where rotten eggs are dried and made into delicate flavorings for angel food and other delicious high-priced dishes. Chicago has also started a crusade to purify the police department. Mayor Dunne is a reformer of the violent type and the attempt to purge the police department of corruption is similar to the task of Hercules in cleaning the Augean stables. The only difference is that Hercules could turn a river into the stables, while Mayor Dunne has the law and its legal quibbles blocking every move he may make. However, Chicago has begun on the right track and if the efficient ward-healers seeking to earn their salaries do not tire of their duties or Mayor Dunne be ousted from office something may be accomplished. Anyway Chicago is securing lots of free advertising.

DOWN IN WALWORTH

Walworth county is boiling from one end to the other—not only boiling, but bubbling over. Politics, pure and simple politics, is the cause. Not only that, but a man named Kull has inspired a greater portion of it. Time was when Kull was a democrat, was president of the University democratic club and played football on the university eleven. That was before Kull saw the light of heaven. Then he became a fair-minded democrat and the next step was easy to become a reformer. Kull practiced law in Lake Geneva. Then he bought a newspaper and became a power in the ranks of the faithful. He attended the gymnasium convention in Madison and acted as a personal bodyguard to the administration. Then Kull went back to Lake Geneva and became campaign manager for Congressman Cooper.

There were several candidates for the postoffice job. One of them was named Short. He was a reformer also. He stood in line for "promotion." Kull is alleged to have gone to him and told him that he could have the postoffice if he paid Kull fifty dollars a month; offered to sell the postoffice, paid for, operated by and owned by Uncle Sam. Mr. Kull claimed to have the office at his disposal. Mr. Cooper, the congressman, had left the negotiations in his hands to select a good man. Mr. Kull used his opportunity, but Mr. Short could not see it. Affidavits were sent to Mr. Cooper of the manner in which the postoffice was being juggled in vain. Mr. Cooper made his appointment and it was not Mr. Short, but a man that Kull picked out. Whether the fifty-per-month figured in it or not is a question. Yesterday Mr. Cooper was in Lake Geneva and met Mr. Short on the street. What Mr.

Short said to the congressman seeking reelection, in the presence of a large crowd, would fill a volume composed of dashes. And Walworth county is mad.

STILL FIGHTING

Different columns of different papers tell different stories. State politics with one faction attempting to read itself is a sight not often seen in any state. A United States Senator at the head of one faction seeking to place his man on the gubernatorial throne, a body of determined men on the other seeking to prevent the seizure of the scepter, is making fun for the conservatives who can sit back and enjoy the scrap. Davidson or Lenroot, it matters little which is on top today. The day will surely come when such methods as are now being used to gain political ends will be disapproved by the voters of the state.

HON. R. M. BASHFORD

This evening at the Myers Opera House Hon. R. M. Bashford of Madison will tell his audience "why he is for Davidson." It is a new phase of the political squabble of bygone days. Two years ago Mr. Bashford was fighting the very men he now seeks to influence to vote for his candidate. Mr. Bashford is an excellent speaker. He is a good lawyer and of judicial temperament. His address tonight will be interesting to listen to. While it is not expected he will make scores of votes for Davidson he will doubtless be listened to by a large audience. Janesville—in fact, Rock county—is apparently a Davidson stronghold. That he will secure a large vote here is even admitted by the Lenroot campaign managers, but out of respect to the cause he represents a good-sized audience, should Mr. Bashford tonight.

Even Mr. Gompers takes a dig at Congressman Cooper and advises his fellow workmen to defeat him for renomination as a dangerous enemy of labor. With the laboring men and the farmers against him Cooper's friends will lie with the federal officeholders he has called back from Washington to aid him in his battle to another term.

There is an employee of the war department that lives on twelve cents a day. There were a lot of soldiers in the Spanish-American war that thought if the government paid more than that for their food he was badly cheated.

Nolan promises to make a better run for congress than even his friends, who were sure of his nomination, expected. New materials in his favor come to notice every day. Get on the Nolan band-wagon.

Has the Monroe Sentinel yet discovered that the present high price of tobacco is not due to the passage of the Philippine Tariff bill and that the bill met its death in the Senate?

With La Follette here a week ago, Bashford tonight, a circus on Friday and Labor day Monday and primaries Tuesday Janesville will be a busy place this next week.

The second district aspirant for congress is said to have worried the late Congressman Adams to death. This is a campaign lie that does not help.

Nolan stands before the people as their friend. He will use his influence if nominated and elected to congress to promote the interests and welfare of his constituents.

Bryan delegates are sleeping in the halls of the New York hotels, while Bryan, sleeps on a private launch down the bay. True Jeffersonian simplicity.

County politics are still buzzing along. Aspirants are riding the district more industriously than do the tobacco-buyers in a dull season.

Who will be sheriff? Who will be district attorney? Who will be clerk of the court? These are three questions for the voters to answer.

President Roosevelt has set the new way of spelling in vogue. Too bad he could not even have left old Noah Webster sleep in peace.

When this cruel war is over and Johnny comes marching home will the fatted calf be killed for the prodigals who voted wrong?

If some of these candidates had known how much it would cost them to seek office they never could have voted for that primary bill.

Attorney Frank Gilbert of Madison is seeking the attorney generalship and the present attorney general says he hopes he will get it.

It will be hard work to tell whether a story is a dialect one or merely the new method of spelling in the future.

The veterans of the Spanish-American war are to hold a banquet and tell war stories soon.

PRESS COMMENT.

No Kick on That Score
Milwaukee Journal: "Bob" says he wants to live in history. We don't believe that even Charles Pfister will object to him in that role.

Impure Coffee a Blessing
El Paso Herald: It is alleged that coffee is heavily adulterated. But according to Battle Creek the less coffee there is in coffee, the better.

Warned
Chicago Record-Herald: A South Haven, Mich., street sweeper has inherited $50,000. We would advise him to pay no attention to matrimonial advertisements.

Raising a "Bobby"
Evening Wisconsin: The junior senator has a faculty for kicking up what is termed a "Bobby"—credit prophetic instinct to the man who first used that word!

Millions for Mineral Waters
El Paso Herald: Last year the country paid nearly $7,000,000 for mineral waters and several times that for miscellaneous soft drinks. No wonder Col. Hank Waterson and Kentucky feel skeptical about the future of the nation.

Summer Vaudeville
Milwaukee Journal: Has it occurred to you that the first primary election in Wisconsin is as pretty a little "Donnybrook fair" entertainment as ever happened, and that the hottest part of the fray is among the friends of the law?

Straight Tip to the Pigeons
Neenah Times: It is claimed and generally believed that wild pigeons are returning to the states. They will be welcomed back and should be protected by law for a few years at least. But it will be as well for them to steer clear of the Oshkosh pot-hunters at that.

Arizona's Aversion Explained
Milwaukee Sentinel: The objections of Arizona to becoming a state jointly with New Mexico are explained by David S. Rose of Milwaukee and Tucson. New Mexico contains too many halfbreeds to suit Arizona. No one can understand these objections better than a man who lives in Wisconsin and has studied political halfbreeds.

Up to the Knees in Kneading
Exchange: A government investigation in Germany has disclosed the fact that in some of the bakeries in that country barefooted operators knead their bread dough by tramping around in it. Evidently there are some things that are worse than our own nasty meat scandal.

By Way of Just Dues
Oshkosh Northwestern: In return for all those nice compliments which have recently been paid by Senator La Follette to Colonel Bryan, the latter can do no less, just as soon as he can get around to it, than again remind the Wisconsin democrats that Mr. La Follette is a pretty fair democrat himself.

Nobly and Gallantly Spoken
Superior Telegram: The Chicago Inter-Ocean says: "The average American man, if he were to begin now, could not finish telling in a thousand years the many good things he knows about the American woman. It is his delight when alone to contemplate her innumerable graces and when in company to mention them to others." Well, we guess the Inter-Ocean is right.

Dared Even to Mention That Appleton Post: Senator La Follette is not lacking in gall. In a speech at Eau Claire Tuesday night, he had something to say about the "pernicious activity of federal officeholders." But there is no federal officeholder of his prominence, or of any degree of prominence, going about the state or in any community endeavoring to browbeat the voters into the support of either candidate for governor. They are all quiescent, except Senator La Follette.

Short Sentences in Favor
Philadelphia Bulletin: "The English sentence grows shorter and shorter," said an essayist. "Spencer, Sir Thomas Moore, Lytle and Sydney used sentences of the average of fifty-five words. Nowadays the sentences of the average journalist are only fifteen words long. Bacon introduced the short sentence. At a time when everybody else was using fifty words he took twenty-two. Praise be to Bacon, Macaulay used a very short sentence. Its average was twenty-eight. Thackeray's was thirty-one. Matthew Arnold's sentences are long, but beautifully balanced. They are thirty-sevens. Henry James are longer and though intricate, graceful and well worth puzzling out, for in each of them a wonderful meaning is concealed. They are thirty-niners. Kipling's sentences are twenty-ones."

Great Night for the Onion
Cleveland Plain Dealer: The onion has served as the basis for many quips and flings at the hands of the humorous paragraphers. And yet it is an extremely wholesome plant and one of high rank with the ancients, particularly the early Egyptians. For these reasons it is pleasant to note that the tabooed edible met with deserved recognition at what was termed an onion reception and banquet in an interior New York town called Union, which in this case might plausibly seem a corruption of onion. It was arranged in honor of the sixteenth anniversary of the special guests of the evening and the onion, the center and scenter of attraction. The house was decorated with onion blossoms, an onion centerpiece graced the table and the bill of fare included onions and onions only—top onions, sliced onions, stewed onions, onion salad and fried onions. Needless to say, the guests, who departed at a late hour, went away breathing many encomiums of the fragrant bulb of honor.

Sugar Factories in the North
Marquette Eagle-Star: The starting up of the Menominee beet sugar factory, for the refining of its brown sugar, revives the interest taken in this big local industry, whose success means so much to the farmers and citizens of the twin cities. Sugar beet growing in Michigan seems to be passing through a difficult experience as farmers find it doesn't pay at present prices of farm labor and on dear lands. Sixteen huge refineries in Michigan with a total capital of nearly $11,000,000, remain, five of which increased both capital and capacity largely during recent months; and last year these sixteen refineries gave employment to 4,000 persons, sliced the beets from 79,457 acres of land and manufactured a little less than a ton of sugar for each acre of beets grown, or 72,000 tons of sugar in all.

ALL GROCERIES CLOSED TODAY

PROPRIETORS AND CLERKS ARE ENJOYING AN OUTING.

PARADE HEADED BY BAND

Preceded Departure This Morning for Big Picnic at Crystal Springs Park.

Members of the Grocers' Association and their business assistants, fifty strong, headed by the officers of the day and the Imperial band, paraded the streets this morning preliminary to their departure for Crystal Springs park, where the annual picnic is in progress as the Gazette goes to press. Walter Taylor, chairman of the day, J. P. Carle, master of ceremonies, and the games committee consisting of Edward Baumann, Allice Lutz, E. R. Winslow, and John Nolan made up the vanguard. Mr. Carle carried the stars and stripes and further back in the procession Harry Johnston tolled along with an immense Chinese parasol from the myriad ribs of which depended all manner of grocery novelties.

Stores All Closed
Ample notice was given in the newspapers that the stores would be closed all day and those who failed to heed, and allowed supplies to run short without replenishing them yesterday—and a number doubtless did so—had only themselves to blame. If they were in good repute with their neighbors it was only a trifling matter to borrow. Anyway the grocers couldn't be censured for setting apart one day in the year for consigning to oblivion the exacting demands of customers, the worries about the fruit shipments, and the hundred and one petty annoyances incident to their waking hours.

Games and Good Time
The day chosen seemed to be a perfect one. The trip up river was made on the steamer "Columbia" and most of the forenoon was doubtless devoted to preparations for the sumptuous picnic dinner. Baseball games and other contests were on the day's program and it is a safe hazard that there was not a bystander who viewed the parade who would not have jumped at the chance to join that happy, hearty, prosperous, and fine-looking band of men and their families on the day's outing.

READING THE BIBLE BECAME HIS MANIA

Tole Gilberts of the Town of Avon Forcibly Resisted Any Effort to Interfere With Hobby.

Tole Gilbertson of the town of Avon has been committed to the asylum for the insane at Mendota and was taken thither by the sheriff yesterday. Overwork appears to have unbalanced the man's mind and recently he became afflicted with an odd mania for reading the bible. He continually turned the book, whenever it was taken from him, and when one was looking he would pounce upon it and become so absorbed in its contents that he could be persuaded to do nothing else. On one occasion he read it continually for two days and a night, scarcely laying the book down. Subsequently, when any attempt was made to interfere with the diversion, he became violent and it required two or three men to wrest the good book from him. Physicians found that his pulse was not normal and his heart action was very irregular.

Chautauqua and Crankism.

Chautauqua Chronicle. The up-to-date Chautauqua is a rural institution. It is a device for capturing the farmer and his half-dollars during the summer months. Originally it was an other thing altogether—a sort of camp meeting with a literary flavor. It is nowadays an amusement enterprise. The good or the harm that it does is done mostly in the rural districts.

In one particular, however, the Chautauqua has a certain influence upon metropolitan life and that is the matter of developing a class of lecturers and orators who would otherwise not be heard of. The Chautauqua demand for all sorts of wild-eyed, whooping cranks on the platform has been met by a supply of such speakers and they all, or nearly all, come from the cities. Thus the Chautauqua is breeding city cranks.

The up-to-date Chautauqua is run like a county fair or a circus, with the idea of getting people into the grounds and getting their money into the treasury. It has been found that Chautauqua audiences want to hear lectures of a certain prominence—or notoriety—who have some radical theory or ism to propose.

They will be satisfied, in lieu of such speakers, with clowns and mountebanks who have no theories.

OLD TRICKS ARE DONE OVER

The New Graft Promises Better Results Than Did the Morth-Eaten One.

A new variation of the old Spanish prisoner swindle, which was worked on Janesville people recently, which is said by some, was first operated by one of the men who accompanied Columbus to the New World and who found his victims among the Indians, has been discovered. By it a man who says he is Antonio Garcia, once secretary of General Martinez Campos, the late governor general of Cuba, tried to induce James Gallagher, who was a wealthy brass founder at No. 37 Centre street, New York, but who died several years ago, to part with $1,000 of his money.

Senator "Garcia" shows great originality in his method of operation, for if the person who gets his letter does not believe him he sends, along, a newspaper clipping in corroboration of his statements and under separate cover the Rev. Pedro Ruiz of Capellan bears him out further.

The letter to Mr. Gallagher, which was received by one of his sons, covers four large sheets and is one of the most heart and pulse touching stories ever penned. The writing is so small as to be legible only to a good eye and is of feminine character. The story starts with the clipping from a Spanish newspaper, which tells of the arrest and conviction of Antonio Garcia for treason in joining the Cuban cause against Spain.

"Garcia" writes that his wife was Mary Gallagher, a relative of James Gallagher, and had often spoken of him in terms of praise. Therefore he—Garcia—was encouraged in asking Mr. Gallagher to send along $1,000 of his money. The supposed traitor to the flag of Spain writes from his prison cell, on behalf of his beautiful and talented daughter, whom he wishes to place in the care of Mr. Gallagher. Of course this will necessitate an expenditure of considerable money which he would not have. His daughter's benefactor, here is where the plot thickens.

On his conviction "Garcia" says the authorities seized all his property to cover the cost of the trial. With the property was a portrait of a man with a secret bottom, wherein is hidden a document showing that he has on deposit $27,000 in a bank in New York. He fails to explain how a man with so much money could be convicted in Spain. But he wishes Mr. Gallagher to send $1,000 to the Rev. Pedro Ruiz whose name alone is suspicious enough—who will obtain the portrait and send it to Mr. Gallagher in New York. According to "Garcia" only Father Ruiz knows the secret of his hidden fortune.

"Here I am," says Garcia, "closely watched by my enemies, and I hope you will not reveal to anybody the slightest particulars of the present writing. Apparently he had more supposed 'susceptible' Americans on his list. He tells of the despair of his daughter, and says she is without support. But her despair will be nothing to him in waiting for the $1,000. The writer says that he cannot receive any correspondence at his present abode, so he gives the name and address of a friend in Barcelona.

The letter purporting to be from "Señor Don Antonio Garcia," is of the common ruled kind and at the top is his name, printed with a rubber stamp. He says: "The situation of Mr. Garcia is only a miracle of our good God. His end is near."

He adds this interesting P. S.: "By way of precaution please send your letter to the address of my brother-in-law, Emilio Mendez, No. 5 Centales, Valencia, Spain."

From a not more than superficial investigation it is safe to say that the newspaper clipping is the only bona fide thing in the documents addressed to the late James Gallagher.

PREPARING TO TAKE PRIZES ONCE MORE

Local, Canton, Patriarcha, Militant, Drilling for Tourney at Oconto, October 8.

This year the annual session of the Grand Encampment of the Wisconsin F. O. O. F. and the Department Council of the Patriarcha Militant will be convened in Oconto October 8. Many from Janesville will attend and among the visitors will be the members of the drill team of Canton, Janesville, number 8. They will be present to compete for prizes with eleven other teams from various cities in the state and as they have done in the four past years expect to carry off first honors. They have commenced drilling already. Captain F. H. Kooblin, under whose command they have taken on all their prizes, is still at their head. He is assisted by W. S. Kerry as lieutenant and L. V. Paul as ensign. They are giving the twelve chevrons hard work and entertain confident hopes of taking not only the $50 prize offered by the Oconto people for every full team, but the $25 prize of the Department Council for the organization securing the largest number of points in competitive drill. The Oconto Canton is but newly organized and under a most efficient drill master will exert every effort to wrest first honors from the Bower City.

TIDINGS OF THE J. TOWN CAMPERS

Mrs. Edward Peterson and Miss Helen Nash Have Thrilling Encounter With Muskellong—Other Notes.

From the station of Mikana, Barron county, which offers the only glimpse of civilization to the Janesville campers at Red Cedar Lake, the following budget of items has been received under date of August 27.

Miss Agnes Shumway entertained at bridge Saturday night. The prize was won by Mrs. Hall of Freeport. Mrs. Edward Peterson and Miss Helen Nash had a big haul of "muskellongs" (date not specified). One of them with a 23-pound displacement went scudding through the waves with the boat for a distance of half a mile before the line broke. Another, a smaller one, had to be stabbed with a hat pin before he would lay still and stop trying to overturn the frail shallop.

Miss Racine Postwick, who has joined the camp, spends much of her time hunting. As the open season has not set in she has thus far religiously refrained from shooting at anything larger than a porcupine, though the temptations have been many.

Miss Harriet Postwick and Miss Josephine Carle are not afraid of the big water-snakes and are greatly enjoying the bathing.

It is fine here in the pines woods. The lone voices of the crane and the other weird voices of the night might make us moody if we were not so busy with bridge. It does seem a shame to devote so much time to that game.

So long, Mary.

THE J-TOWN CAMPERS.

PHYSICAL DIRECTOR J. A. WARD TO LEAVE

Will Go Back to Detroit as Assistant in Y. M. C. A. There—To Depart Saturday.

Physical Director J. A. Ward has resigned from the employe of the Janesville Y. M. C. A. and will go back to Detroit as first assistant in the association there. This announcement will no doubt be received with surprise and regret by many in the city for Mr. Ward has made many close friendships during his three years residence. His service here has been faithful and pleasing and under his direction the Junior Department has flourished. He had much success and his work among the boys has been wonderful. Never has the membership of the boys been so large nor has there been so much enthusiasm. Mr. Ward has remained in the Janesville Association longer than any other physical director and he will be greatly missed. He will leave Janesville Saturday, going to Chicago for a visit with relatives. From there he will proceed to Detroit to take up his old work in a place a step higher than he occupied upon leaving. As yet the management of the Association has not determined upon a successor. Thirty-five men made application for the position and now the choice lies between a few. A decision will soon be reached and the new physical director is expected shortly. He will take up the work where Mr. Ward leaves it and in time open up new departments. Among these will probably be a fencing class for the older members, there being a large number of business men and others in the city anxious to learn the art of the fells.

THE SCOTCH ART OF HOSPITALITY

STRONGLY IMPRESSED R. C. DENISON WHILE ON VISIT.

ARRIVED HOME LAST NIGHT

Preached to Four Immense Audiences in Dundee—Saw Various Places of Interest.

Rev. R. C. Denison of the Congregational church returned last evening from his trip to England and Scotland. After landing in America he came directly to Janesville and is consequently very tired from his long trip. Nevertheless hundreds have visited him today and it is with joy that they welcome him back to the city. He will take up his work here immediately and Sunday evening will talk of "England and Scotland, their peoples and his experiences among them."

Trusts Get Much Blame

Mr. Denison departed from Janesville Wednesday, July 11, and after a short visit in New York City sailed from Philadelphia for Liverpool. The boat was scheduled to make the trip in ten days, but was on the water twelve. Poor coal was responsible for the delay and the captain of the vessel found and fussed and laid the trouble at the door of Morgan's shipping trust. "The trusts were guilty of everything that went wrong," said Mr. Denison and then he smiled. "I expected to go to London for one Sunday," he continued, "but as I had been three weeks in the British Isles and was late in arriving I sought to be excused from preaching there and was. I went to the sleepy little village of Scrooby in the center of England and got no nearer the metropolis. Scrooby is the home of Congregationalism and it was from here that many of the leaders of the Plymouth colony came, among them Brewster."

England First Went to America

"From there," he went to Doncaster and Ripon. "The latter place was the ruins of Pontefract Abbey. This was one of the finest and was the largest abbey in England and the ruins are now the most picturesque. While there sightseeing one foot became sore and swollen and bearing blood poison I called a doctor. He was a typical, aristocratic English physician and when he had completed his professional call he paid me a visit and returned several times. I was accorded the best of treatment in the little hotel I stopped at. The doctor asked me if there was not more friendship in England for America than in America for England and he wondered if the people of the United States did not harbor a hostile feeling toward Britain. I assured him differently."

American Preachers Racy

"Two Sundays I preached in Dundee. It rained a greater part of the time. I was there and on one Sabbath the water came down in torrents. The people failed to mind it and the attendance at church was large. Church-going seems to be a habit. The Scotch audience is very attentive and I had many expressions of appreciation for my sermons. The American preachers are liked greatly and as one woman told me: 'We enjoy your talks for they are so racy.' One thing that seems to take is that we speak while the Scotch ministers read. The church services are very simple and dignified."

Likes the Scotch People

"For the people in the Scotch homes I have only the utmost admiration. They are reserved till they know you, but when they become acquainted they cannot do enough for one. They are adepts in the art of cordiality and the art of hospitality. The members of Dr. Anderson's church, the one in which I preached, are of the upper middle class. They are the business-men and their families. In everyday life they are engaged in the late business, the manufacturing of chocolate products, jams and marmalades and the building of ships."

Janesville Links Prettiest

"Between Sundays I made two side trips. One was to Pittsburgh, Abbot'sford, the home of Sir Walter Scott, Perth and St. Andrews. At the last named place I saw the famous St. Andrews golf links. For beauty they do not compare with the St. Andrews links. I saw many people were playing the Scotch game there, it being at the height of the season. People of all ages and ability were playing. I even saw one old man who was forced to walk with a cane. Though I never play golf it did not seem to me some of the enthusiasts could play as well as many I have seen in the game here. At St. Andrews are the ruins of the castle in which John Knox preached his first sermon. The ruins of a cathedral that in its time was the largest in Scotland and a University."

With Dr. Mills' Friends

"At Perth I visited some friends of Dr. James Mills, to whom he had given me a letter of introduction. They were the most hospitable I have ever met. They were very much interested in Americans and all they could learn of them. I also visited the Burns country. On a former trip I had been to Avy and so went down to Dumfries, where the great poet died and is buried. This town is in Kirkcubright, the country about which Crockett writes."

"Be Careful Susie"

To the Editor: This is just a roast on two young ladies (?) and their gentlemen friends of the Fourth ward who sit on their own and the neighbors' horse blocks until midnight or after disturbing the peaceful slumbers of the hard working citizens of that locality. Perhaps they do not think they are disturbing others as they have no particular occupation and can sleep during the day to make up for what sleep they have lost during the night. This has been going on all summer but was a more noticeable nuisance during these last few warm nights when it is hard enough to get a few hours' sleep without being disturbed by the hooting and boisterous laughing of thoughtless young people who should be in bed instead of walking the streets.

STORIES OF HENDERSON

Characteristics of Man Who Succeeded Reed as Speaker.

EXAMPLE OF HIS READY TACT

How He Calmed and Comforted a Dying Soldier—His Story of the Legless Man—When Henderson Was Shot—Fond of Music and Liked a Rousing Chorus.

Apropos of Mr. Henderson's war experience the following story was told by one of his colleagues recently, which illustrates as well as any of the stories concerning him his ready sympathy and tact, says a writer in Leslie's Weekly: In the days when Dave Henderson was a raw young lieutenant, and before he had lost a leg in the service of his country, he was called to a man who had been mortally wounded by the explosion of a gun. He found the poor fellow lying on the grass swearing a blue streak at the unfortunate accident that would cost him his life, while a callow young chaplain kneeling beside the wounded soldier vainly expostulated with him for such blasphemy and besought him to pray, since he was about to be called into the presence of his Maker. The chaplain's exhortations had no effect upon the suffering soldier, however, who continued to swear more loudly than ever.

"Make way," ordered Henderson, and kneeling by the side of the soldier he said in a voice as tender as a woman's, "Can we do nothing for you, my brave fellow?"

The soldier looked up wistfully at the sound of the sympathetic words, "I'm afraid it's all up," he said faintly.

"Well, if it is, my man, it must be a happiness and satisfaction to you to know that you died for your country. You are just as much of a hero as though you had been killed in the field of battle, and your name will always be revered. God help you, my brave boy!"

"Is that so? Is that so?" murmured the dying soldier. "That's a comfort, sir; it's a great comfort," and, holding the hand of his young officer, the poor lad died.

Mr. Henderson once told how he lost his leg as follows:

"A good many people ask me how I lost my leg. Generally I tell them, but I always think of the story of the Iowa man who had both legs cut off by a buzzsaw. One day he was riding in a railroad train, and an old lady who sat across the aisle from him stared at his stumps pretty hard. Finally she said: 'Pardon me, sir, but will you tell me how you lost your legs?'"

"No, I won't," the legless man replied. "The old lady sighed and settled back in her seat. Pretty soon she began staring again, and, unable to conceal her curiosity, she pleaded: 'I wish you would tell me how you lost your legs.'"

"The man relented.

"Well," he said, "I'll tell you if you will promise not to ask me any more questions. Now, mind, you can't ask another question."

"I promise," said the old lady in a quiver of excitement.

"Well," said the legless man, "I had them clawed off!"

It is related that when Colonel David Bremner Henderson was a lieutenant in the Twelfth Iowa at the battle of Corinth he noticed a soldier whose gun had been clogged and which refused to work. The poor fellow, in the belief that he would surely be killed with a useless weapon in his hand, became woefully excited and began to tremble as with an ague. "You infernal fool!" shouted Henderson, forgetting conventionalities for the moment. "Here, why don't you pick the tube out with a pin, same as you do when you're shooting prairie chickens?" The words "prairie chickens" in the ear of this native of Iowa sounded so good that it immediately brought him to himself. He at once cleaned out his gun and went into the fight. At the end of the battle the man who had cleaned out his gun had been shot in the hip and Henderson had received the shot in his left foot which compelled him to wear an artificial leg. When the two happened to meet afterward, Colonel Henderson said, "Well, old boy, that prairie chicken saved your life, if it didn't your hip!"

One winter a certain person with an ax to grind in the house took rooms at the Normandie that he might be near Mr. Henderson and, if possible, gain his friendship and secure his influence. Soon after he had established himself at the hotel he was fortunate enough to be invited by one of the guests to a little supper after the theater at which the speaker was the principal figure. The company was a gay one, and shortly before separating the speaker burst forth with, "The thinking of the Banjo is the Only Sound I Hear," everybody joining in the chorus with a gusto save the man with an ax to grind, who sat dumfounded, as though hypnotized by the unusual scene. The chief singer did not seem to observe the stranger's silence, but when, a day or two later, some one proposed bringing him to call on the speaker the latter said he was not at all anxious to meet a man who could not be moved by the spirit of music. The meeting, however, was finally arranged, a friendship established, and at the next singing he was the voice of the man with an ax to grind was the loudest in the whole chorus.

Pacer Ecstatic Astounds Horsemen

Vermont Pacing Queen and Her Defeat of Baron Grattan—Trotter Mainsheet.

The Vermont pacer Ecstatic, 2:04 1/4, has created a sensation this summer on the grand circuit and elsewhere by outspeeding horses supposed to be of superior powers. Ecstatic is known as "the Vermont pacing queen," and she deserves every word of that title. She has an unusual ly clean gait for a pacer, requiring no hoppers or toe weights. She has a natural, easy stride that does not seem to tire her in the least in spite of a closely contested finish.

At the recent so called outlaw meeting at Kenilworth park, Buffalo, Ecstatic astounded the talent by defeating Baron Grattan, with Ed Geers up, in two heats out of three.

Geers and his free for all star were thought to hold Ecstatic safe by many seconds, and a big price was obtainable in the pools against Ecstatic.

Frank Lang surprised every one when he marched Ecstatic to the front early in the first heat of the fast pace and kept her there, jogging home in 2:05 1/4. Baron Grattan's admirers still had faith in his ability to win, but Geers' free for all pacer is the unluckiest horse on the turf, for he is always getting up against something frightfully hard.

Geers went after the Vermont mare going away the second heat and carried her down to the three-quarters in 1:32. The mare just played with him going at this clip, and as Geers said, she jogged the third quarter in 30 seconds.

The Baron was all in at the head of the stretch, and Ecstatic had a comfortable time coming home. The mile was in 2:04 1/4, a cut of a full second in the winner's record.

Ecstatic is owned by Roaring Brooks stables, Barton, Vt., and is a half sister to John Shepard's Transylvania winner, Ethel's Pride. This is her first start of the year, and horsemen are very enthusiastic over her.

Mainsheet is certainly a trotter of rare merit, being able to go out every week and trot three heats below 2:10, which will nearly always win any class trot.

His performances this season make him look to be the best "class" trotter that has appeared in recent years, and if he keeps his form he will undoubtedly prove the greatest money winning trotter of the year.

That other good trotter, Lake Queen, also won another fine race at Buffalo, and also showed her ability to trot three times below 2:10, which is a great performance by any trotter, no matter in what class or in what company he starts.

Mainsheet is a sure 2:05 trotter this season, say the knowing ones, and the prediction is far from being a rash one when his performances are analyzed.

Blacklock, 2:07 1/4, about whose speed so many sensational stories have been told, has been purchased by C. K. G. Billings from his former owner, W. H. Stubblefield, Orono, Me., at a long price.

His record was taken at the Libertyville meeting, where he also paced a mile in a workout in 2:05 1/4. After the Libertyville meeting he was shipped to

MAINSHEET, THE TROTTER FEATURE OF THE YEAR.

Davenport, Ia., where Trainer Rush is said to have worked him in 2:01 1/4. From Davenport he went to Decatur, where a mile in 2:03 1/4, last half in 0:50, was claimed.

Mr. Billings at once sent Murray Howe and a veterinary to Decatur, and upon finding the horse to be sound he was soon purchased. He was sent to Cleveland, where "Doc" Tanner has taken charge of him.
